1. Concreting work supervised by Polish engineers started on the airfield, about one mile southwest of BIELSKO (Q 50/S 88), near the village of ALEKSANDROWI CE. The concrete surface was allegedly 20 inches thick.

17 August 1948

2. Hangars were under construction. A plane assisted by searchlights landed in the evening. The field was restricted and guarded by sentries patrolling the area.

25X1A [REDACTED] Comment:

The indicated location agrees with World War II records.
 As the information on construction work is received for the first time, its accuracy cannot be rated.
